

Long Beach State Sets Jan. 15 Admission Date

Applications for admission to Long Beach State College for the spring semester must be submitted by Jan. 15, according to officials at the college.

Students applying for admission for the first time must submit both an application and all transcripts from previous schools to the Admission Office. Actual registration for the spring semester will begin Feb. 4, and classes are scheduled to begin Feb. 10.

Students who have not asked to have official transcripts sent from other schools should do so at once. Clarence R. Bergland, associate dean for admissions, said students should stress documents must reach the college by the Jan. 15 deadline.

Convention Center Site Plan to Be Presented

A proposal will be presented to the Coliseum Commission Jan. 8 to build a great exhibition and convention center at Exposition Park.

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn will press for the proposal at the next meeting of the commission. Hahn said the center can be built at Exposition Park without costing the taxpayers a penny.

Exposition Park land is state-owned and therefore public money need not be used to acquire land for speculative purposes, Hahn claims. He was president of the Coliseum Commission in 1955 and during his tenure secured legislation in Sacramento which built the Los Angeles Memorial Sports Arena by issuing revenue bonds and without a special property tax.

IN THIS WAY a portion of all tickets purchased for every event at the Sports Arena is returned to the bond holders who purchased the Sports Arena bonds. The exhibition hall can be built by this sound financial method "without taxing the overburdened property owner," Hahn says.

Hahn led the fight to build the Sports Arena in 1955 and was opposed by special downtown interests who wanted the Sports Arena and an opera house in the downtown area. The battle was won with the help of the Southside Chamber of Commerce and leaders in the Southwest community.

"THE PROPOSED hotel-motel tax to build a convention hall downtown was the old battle all over again," Hahn said.

The Coliseum Commission, on Hahn's motion in August, authorized the preparation of a contract with the law firm of O'Melvaney and Byers to give a written legal opinion on the issuing of revenue bonds for the Exhibition Hall as well as having an economic study made by Ebasco Corp. on the feasibility of financing.

IT IS estimated that $500,000 in revenue every month can be realized from conventions and trade shows, adding to the economy in the Los Angeles area when this Exhibition and Convention Center is built, Hahn said.

"We have already lost valuable time and much needed revenue by the delays and road blocks," he said. "It is my hope that soon after the beginning of the year we will move forward for actual construction."

New Botany Course to Be Offered

Persons who want to learn something about plant life will be given an opportunity at El Camino college this spring. The college will offer a course in field botany during the coming semester.

Charles Luger, who will teach the course, says it should be particularly useful to gardeners, school teachers, nature study leaders, park employees, and college students seeking credit in biological science.

The class will involve the recognition of both cultivated and wild plant life. Five field trips have been arranged. Sessions for class study include the Los Angeles State and County Arboretum, the Huntington Library, Rancho San Ana Botanic Garden, University of California at Los Angeles Botanic Garden, and the South Coast Botanic Garden in Rolling Hills. Classes will begin Feb. 3.
